A bumper month for migrations

The pace of our migrations has increased in recent weeks as we welcome seven new local authorities to the national digital register. Property buyers, developers, and policymakers can now benefit from instant search results that are crucial to buying decisions in 40 local authority areas across England and Wales.

The latest local authority areas you can search online are:

- City and County of Swansea Council
- City of Lincoln Council
- Harborough District Council
- Isle of Wight Council
- Newcastle-under-Lyme Borough Council
- Portsmouth City Council
- Solihull Metropolitan Borough Council.

Swansea Council leads the way for Wales

We are incredibly encouraged to see that within 12 months of starting their migration, Swansea Council has become the very first Welsh authority to join the national register. Swansea Council's migration is a great example of how learning from previously migrated authorities and a proactive stance can speed up the process.

In April 2021, the Local Land Charges (Fees) (Wales) Rules 2021 came into force. These rules aligned the Welsh Local Land Charges (LLC) service fees payable to the Chief Land Registrar, with those payable in England. This change enabled Welsh local authorities to transfer their LLC data to the national register. Swansea is the first of 22 Welsh local authorities to migrate their service to the register.

We will shortly share details of Swansea's journey through a podcast interview with their Senior Responsible Officer.

Local Land Charges INSPIRE dataset to be published

HM Land Registry is pleased to announce plans to publish its LLC INSPIRE dataset in May 2022. The dataset will be made available free of charge under Open Government Licence (OGL). In accordance with INSPIRE regulations, users will have access to a unique reference number known as an INSPIRE ID. These represent spatial extents affected by Local Land Charges. Data users may identify, share and merge environmental information with other datasets.

The dataset will be published on the Use land and property data service platform in a downloadable format. Local authorities who have migrated their LLC service to the national register will automatically have their data published, making them compliant with INSPIRE regulations. As a result, there is no requirement to publish LLC datasets independently.

More details about the dataset will be available when the information is published.
